Imprint:

A Memoir of Trauma in the Third Generation

Claire Sicherman

RELEASED 2017 PAGES 224 RIGHTS AVAILABLE WORLD

Despite the distance of being a third-generation Holocaust survivor, Claire Sicherman not only honours her ancestors but offers the truth to the next generation and her now nine-year-old son. Using vignettes, epistolary style, and other unconventional forms to explore the inter-generational transmission of trauma, this book is a beautiful testimony.

Wild Fierce Life:

Dangerous Moments on the Outer Coast

Joanna Streetly

RELEASED 2018 PAGES 224 RIGHTS AVAILABLE WORLD

A heart-stopping collection of true stories from the Pacific Coast that evokes a respect for nature, both its fragility and its power. From a near-death experience while swimming at night to an enigmatic encounter with a cougar, these stories capture the joys and dangers of living in a wild environment.

What the Mouth Wants:

A Memoir of Food, Love and Belonging

Monica Meneghetti

RELEASED 2017 PAGES 192 RIGHTS AVAILABLE WORLD

An award-winning book about being authentic to one's self while bisexual, polyamorous, and the youngest in a traditional Italian-Catholic immigrant family. Mouthwatering, intimate, and sensual, this memoir reveals the delicious complexity of life like herbs infusing a sauce with flavour. Winner of the Bisexual Book Award and a Lambda finalist.
